Edinburgh, United Kingdom, 7th October 2009 – PowerupMobile.com has revealed availability and pricing information for the highly anticipated HTC HD2 Windows Mobile device on the Vodafone and T-Mobile network. Customers can compare HTC HD2 deals via the PowerupMobile.com web site which was updated in the early hours of the morning, with the option to pre-order from one of the companies retail partners.

The HTC HD2, whose launch was announced yesterday, was expected to debut on the O2 network after appearing in their October catalogue, however, the device is currently not yet listed on the O2 online shop.

“It is early days yet and I expect many more retailers and networks, including O2 to list prices in the coming weeks”, notes Jeff Shillitto, Managing Director of PowerupMobile.com. “I am however surprised and delighted to have discovered deals for this device so quickly after following the build up to the official launch over the last few days” he adds.

The price comparison site is currently comparing over 200 tariffs for the device, only four of which offer the device free of charge. Customers can expect to pay around £40-£45 per month for 18-24 months with unlimited texts and internet to receive a fully subsidised handset. It is also available for £494.99 on a Vodafone Pay as You Go tariff.
